TWO DIVORCES WANTED.

Cruel Treatment One Alleges And Abandonment The Other.Lou Leavell has filed suit for divorce from James Leavell. Plaintiff states in her petition that they were married in this county in 1895 and lived together until 1899, when the defendant beat and injured her in such a cruel manner that she was afraid to live longer with him, as he had made threats against her life, and that she believed her life would be greatly endangered by remaining longer with said defendant. She prays for a divorce from the bonds of matrimony and for $50 per year alimony to assist in the support of their little child.Emmett Lacy also filed suit for divorce from his wife, Martha Lacy, alleging abandonment. They were married in 1896, says the petition,

STIKE SITUATION.

Both Sides Claim Advantages
Have Been Gained.President Shaffer Attacked And a Feeling of Discontent is Growing.Pittsburg, Sept. 2.—At a meeting of the Bayview, Wis., lodge of the Amalgamated Association, former Vice President Hickey, of the association, who has been investigating the steel strike situation in the East, accused the national officers of the association of misrepresenting the attitude of the United States Steel Corporation. He declared that the strike seemed to be lost; that 72 per cent. of the mills are working, and that it would take years to repair the damage which the association had sustained. He also charged that President Shaffer had violated the constitution of the organization. The strikers claim that they have gained a victory in the open hearth department of the Duquesne steel plant, and claim that the mill will be forced to close to-day. The report is denied by steel officials, who claim that the plant is running in full blast. It is said that the men from the Bessemer department have been put to work in the place of the men who walked out.

BEDFELLOWS IN MEXICO.

Traveler Spends an Unpleasant Night in Company with Lizards.

"I had a rather unhappy experience once, myself," said a listener, "but it was at a time when my nerves could not stand a great deal, and the shock was no surprise to me. I was really happy when I found that my eyes had played me no trick and that the things about me were real things. I had journeyed down into Mexico, for the purpose of spending some time. The trip was part of a business trip, and partly for such pleasure as I could get out of an experience in a country that was new to me. I ought to say here that I had never been in a tropical country. My life had been spent in the north, and whatever I knew about many of the forms of life in tropical sections was altogether theoretical. I had merely read about many of the things, but I learned afterwards that there were many things I had never dreamed of even in moments when my mind was inclined to conjure with the horrors of unseen sleep. Well, I found myself in Mexico. I was in the wilds of Mexico, and that, where one could find but few of the comforts known to the more advanced ways of living. I stopped with an old Mexican one night, and he put me in a dumpy little room off to myself. I slept on the floor, or rather I started to sleep on the floor, and it was a dirt floor at that. I coiled up on a mattress made of some light material. I had just closed my eyes when I felt something scurrying rapidly over my forehead. It startled me a bit, but I kept cool and still to see if it would happen again.

It happened in less time than it takes to tell it. This thing kept up until the experiment was disorganizing my nerves, and I could stand it no longer. I got up and started out, and I felt the same thing happening to my feet. Partly panic-stricken, I rushed into the room of the old Mexican. "Something in yonder," I said, pointing toward my room. He took in the situation at once, and assured me that it was all right. He struck a light and went to the room with me to assure me that there was no danger. When I got back to my room I was paralyzed. Crawling over the walls of the hut and scurrying over the floor over the mattress on which I had lain, and running here and there, and everywhere, was a perfect army of lizards of all sizes, ages and varieties. I told the Mexican to leave me the light, and that I would occupy the room for the night. And so I did. But I did not sleep, for I did not want the lizards, however harmless and companionable they might be, to convert my face and forehead into a promenade. This wound up my experience in Mexico, and I scamped over the border as soon as possible, and since that the wilder regions in the tropics have had no fascination for me."—N. O. Times-Democrat.

AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Curious, Though Disastrous, Experience in a French Forest.

A lady was entering the forest of St. Germain, near Paris, in an automobile recently when the machinery became out of order. The passengers brought the car to a standstill in order to overhaul the engine, when almost immediately a violent explosion occurred and the car was enveloped in flames. The passengers had a narrow escape. The liquid fuel in the reservoir of the car overflowed and became ignited, and it was feared that the burning stream of oil would run among the bushes fringing the road, setting them alight, in which event the forest would have been involved and widespread damage caused. The forest fire, however, was averted by the felling of a few trees and the cutting away of the undergrowth in the vicinity of the burning vehicle. The motor car burned fiercely for about an hour, leaving only a mass of tangled steel and ironwork. The value of the automobile was $5,000.—Scientific American.

One of Those Questions.

"Help! Help!" gurgled the drowning man, as he was about to sink for the last time.

"What's the matter?" yelled the lounge on the wharf. "It isn't deep. Can't you walk out?"

"Of course!" gasped the other, sarcastically, "but I'm afraid I'll get my shoes muddy."

Then he sank—London Answers.

HOPKINSVILLE PEACH

This Finest of all Peaches and Something in it.

Peach Crop, Heaviest For Many Years and of Excellent Quality.

The peach crop in this county has turned out to be something enormous and from $1 a bushel at the beginning of the season, the price has declined until the market is thoroughly glutted with peaches of all kinds and of the finest quality. Many farmers being unable to sell from wagons have had to haul them back home to feed to their hogs. They have in some instances failed to bring offers of more than 15 cents a bushel. With fruit so plentiful, it is almost impossible to sell any but the best peaches. These bring from 25 cents to 40 cents a bushel.

In point of quality it is the universal opinion that the "Hopkinsville" peach stands at the very top. It is not so large as usual this year on account of the heavy crop on the trees and the drought in the growing season, but the quality and flavor are excellent. The Hopkinsville peach when at its best is as large as a man's fist. It has a red blush on one side and sometimes all over. The flesh is white and "mealy" but red at the seed. In shape it is oblong with a long "tail" on the end, that is its most distinctive feature. The Hopkinsville peach has been known and raised here, coming true from the seed, for more than fifty years. It can now be obtained from first put on the market many years ago by Downer Bros. of Todd county. But the peach did not originate here, and nobody knows where it did originate. About 1850 a stranger came to Hopkinsville and put up at the "tavern" that used to stand opposite the court house. In these days he would be called a drummer, but half a century ago he was a "traveler." While stopping at the tavern he told about a wonderful peach he had found at one of his stopping places, that in flavor surpassed any peach he had ever eaten. He said the fruit so impressed him that he had saved a lot of seed and had them in his grip. He got out a handful and gave them to Mr. John S. Bryan, who was the clerk in the tavern. Mr. Bryan divided them with the late Major John Stiles. Both raised several trees and soon the fame of the new peach got abroad in the land. Mr. Bryan named it the Hopkinsville peach and the name has stuck to it. It is sold under this name by the nurseries and is propagated everywhere by planting the seed. This delightful peach is now on the market. Don't fail to try it and don't neglect to plant the seeds.

Thought They Were Married.

A queer story is told on a young couple from the north end of the county who came into the County Clerk's office a few weeks ago and obtained a marriage license. After paying the accustomed fee and being given the papers it seems that the young pair went back home happy and contented and settled down to enjoy their honeymoon. After several days of wedded bliss (as they thought) some one asked by whom they were married when they came to town. The young man replied that they were married by Mr. Booker, the Clerk, or Bob Noe, the deputy, he did not remember which, but he had his papers (meaning his license) all right. It was explained that the services of a Magistrate or a minister of the Gospel were required before the job would be complete were on the hunt for one of those personages.—Springfield News Leader.

MAN OF EXPERIENCE.

Capt. Lemly, Judge Advocate of Schley Court of Inquiry.

Has had More to Do with the Prosecution of Naval Law Cases Than Any Other Officer in the Service.

Capt. Lemly is particularly well fitted for the exacting duties of judge advocate. He is now serving his third term as judge advocate general. He is a civil as well as a maritime lawyer. So far as known he has never expressed an opinion as to the merits of either Rear Admiral Sampson or Rear Admiral Schley. He served with Schley in the Essex at the South Atlantic station, and was a watch officer on board the Thetis, commanded by Capt. Schley, which with the Bear, formed the Greely relief expedition.

Capt. Lemly says he would be hurt to have it intimated that he has any personal feeling whatever in the controversy. In all the time he has been at the head of the legal department of the navy, his service dated back to 1895, he has, fortunately, never had occasion to pass upon any cases that involved either Sampson or Schley in any personal aspect. He has known both—Schley better than Sampson, perhaps. He was one of Schley's personal friends when Schley (Lemly) was in active line service. He accompanied Schley on the famous Greely relief expedition and he rendered valuable service in that expedition, which the senior officer recognized. On the other hand, Capt. Lemly has known Sampson officially in the navy, but never in the line of duty. He was the head of the ordnance bureau, and they were thus thrown into close contact in a business point of view at least for several years.

Capt. Lemly had already arranged to depart from Washington on his annual leave on a trip through Canada some time in August, but he will be unable to leave on later date than in order to be able to study up this

CAPT. SAMUEL C. LEMLY,
Judge Advocate of the Sampson-Schley
Court of Inquiry

celebrated case before the court meets September 12.

Measures the decided force of the judge advocate's department may prepare the mass of documentary evidence necessary for use before the points may be gathered ready for the opening. It is also noted that under the ordinary rules of practice the judge advocate general of the navy is called upon to review the proceedings of the court and to conduct the inquiry. Secretary Long has promised Capt. Lemly that he will be exempted from the duty of reviewing the proceedings of the Schley court.

Capt. Lemly has probably had more experience in the prosecution of naval law cases than any other officer in the navy, and is generally regarded as one of the best equipped officers in the navy for the important duties which will devolve upon him as judge advocate of the court.

Prior to his assumption of his duties as judge advocate general of the navy, in June, 1902, he was prominently identified with several of the most important trials and investigations in the recent annals of the navy. As judge advocate and recorder of various courts he traversed nearly all points of the world visited by United States warships, going as far as China and Japan in the prosecution of such work.

He was judge advocate of the court-martial convened in China as a result of the loss of the United States steamship Ashuelot, and was also judge advocate in the court-martial case of Paymaster Perkins, which sat at Yokohama. He was also judge advocate in the court-martial case appointed for the trial of ex-Surgeon General Smith and ex-Paymaster General Smith. Probably his most important work of this kind, however, was as judge advocate of the court of inquiry which investigated the loss of the Jeannette in the Arctic. That investigation was conducted in Washington and was marked by almost as much acrimony and controversy as the pending Sampson-Schley case.

Naval officers in speaking of the fairness of Secretary Long in selecting the court of inquiry point to the fact that Admiral Kimberly, who Schley's commander back in the 70's,

PENSION.

For a Soldier Who Lost a Leg While Bathing.

Washington, August 8.—Admiral Kempff has forwarded to the Navy Department an official report, thrilling in its details, of the biting off of the leg of Quartermaster S. McKie, third class, of the gunboat Annapolis, by a shark or other animal with sea monster.

The Annapolis has been stationed off of late at Hilo, and on June 24 last a party was sent out for rifle target practice. Commander Rohrer, in charge of the Annapolis, states that permission was given several of the men to go swimming, while others were engaged in firing. Two of the men had been in for some time, when McKie joined them, and asked if they had been able to touch bottom. Being answered in the negative he made a dive and was gone for several seconds. One of the seamen says he heard a gurgling sound beneath the water. A moment later McKie appeared on the surface, and shouted "Shark! Shark!" The surface of the water was covered with blood near where he came up. McKie started to swim, and, although crippled, reached the boat and was pulled in by his companions. A horrible sight met their eyes. The Quartermaster's leg having been bitten off near the knee. With all dispatch he was taken aboard the Annapolis, where the surgeon found it necessary to amputate the limb between the knee and hip. The surgeon, in his report, states that while the accident was not in the line of duty, it was incident to the service. Admiral Kempff, however, in indorsing the papers, holds that as the Quartermaster had received permission from the officers in charge to go in bathing the accident occurred in the line of duty. Under these circumstances the crippled Quartermaster probably will receive a pension.

In some of the Swiss valleys the inhabitants are all afflicted with goitre or thick neck. Instead of regarding this as a deformity, they seem to think it a natural feature of physical development, and tourists passing the valleys are sometimes jeered by the goitrous inhabitants because they are without this offensive swelling. Thus a form of disease may become so common as to be regarded as a natural necessary condition of life. It is so, to a large extent, with what are called diseases of women. Every woman suffers more or less with irregularity, ulceration, debilitating drains or female weakness, and this suffering is so common and so universal that many women accept it as natural to their sex. But it is a condition as unnatural as it is unnecessary. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, strengthens the delicate womanly organs and regulates the womanly functions, so that woman is practically delivered from the pain and misery which eat up ten years of a woman's life—between the ages of fifteen and forty-five. Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well.

BATHER IN A PLIGHT.

Mean Trick of Tramps on Two New Yorkers.

Worochelle, N. Y., Aug. 25.—J. B. Cohen and Louis Turin, who went in bathing in Echo Bay had an embarrassing experience. They went into the water with bathing suits, and while they were swimming about, two tramps came along and stole their clothing, leaving them out in the cold. The men, when they came out and discovered the robbery, were so angry that they tore up the grass and threw sand in the air. The stolen clothing contained their watches and money, and that left by the tramps was so tattered and dirty that they could not wear it. The men scoured the woods for the tramps, but failing to find them, hired a boy to go to Cohen's store and bring them some clothing. It took the boy about three hours to make the trip, and in the meanwhile Cohen and Turin kept themselves submerged in the water. It was nearly midnight when they reached New Rochelle and reported their loss to the police.

Mr. Bok Believes In Newspapers.

The editor of The Ladies' Home Journal says every young man should read a good daily newspaper. He should select that paper which stands for honesty in its news and the highest purposes in its editorial expression. One paper is sufficient; but let it be the best.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking

Scott's Emulsion

You will find it just as useful in summer as in winter, and if you are thriving upon it don't stop because the weather is warm.

SEPTEMBER STORMS.

Tidal Waves Will be Abnormally High and Fierce.

Marked Drops of Temperature, Even to Frosts in Northern Directions, Probable.

Following is Hicks' prediction in part for September weather:

"About the time of the moon's last quarter of extreme north declination on the 5th, reactionary disturbances will show themselves, when storm areas will appear, or general storms, which may be advancing from the equator, will become more pronounced.

As we enter the regular storm period central on the 10th, we may expect a very warm spell in most parts. From about Monday, the 9th, to Friday the 13th, barometric readings will become disturbed, and dangerously low depressions will admonish of possible violence. Storms of this period are apt to reach a crisis on and touching the 10th, 11th and 12th. Tidal waves in the gulf and around the coast will be abnormally high and fierce about the 12th and 13th. In all probability general rain storms, gales and changes of weather will visit the interior of the continent at this time, as well as the coast region. The magnetic and electric forces that normally lie dormant in our globe and atmosphere, as a rule reach a maximum state of unrest and activity about September 11th. This is often manifested by earth currents and auroral displays, disturbing telegraphy and illuminating the north sky.

Storms and changes will come with the early storm periods of the month, and that very marked drops of the temperature, even to frosts in northern directions, will be reached before the middle of September. The reactionary storm period, central about the 16th and 17th, will bring perceptible changes to warmer, falling barometer, growing cloudiness and precipitation; but more general and energetic disturbances are almost certain to result during the volcanic storm period central on the 22nd, coincident with the center of earth's autumnal equinox.

Moon is on the equator on the 26th, full on the 28th, and in perigee on the 29th. Tidal waves will rise to a maximum in many parts of the earth during this period, central on the 28th and 29th. If a touch of frost, snow and early winter visit regions northward at the close of these disturbances, readers well up in the theory and forecast will not be surprised or caught napping.

In Memory of John Nick Dixon.

Once more the angel of death who moves in so mysterious a way, has visited our home (Old Olive) and claimed from among its flock the noblest one of all.

The pride of a mother's heart and a loving father's ambition, will gladden no more with his smile that home nor cheerless and sad. And the friends that knew him best can only with me, now exclaim, "Oh, that he should be taken while yet on the threshold of manhood, in the strength of his useful goodness and with seemingly so much to live for." Words are feeble, I know, in an effort now to console her with a broken heart, and him with a bright hope. Yet as one who has known him from childhood, I would drop as it were, with my pen, a flower of loving remembrance on the grave of my departed friend. Though it grieves us to know he has gone, and we cry out in pain to him who has willed that while yet in his youth he should be taken thus sadly away. When the musing angel again shall visit our sorrowing midst, where, oh where will he find one so well prepared to go where his bright young spirit may ever keep watch with the guardian angels o'er that home so deep in despair. But the grief-stricken father and mother and grand parents, aged and gray, may grow strong in the knowledge at least, that it will be only a few fleeting years e'er they gather with him around the threshold of our Maker to dwell ever more. I have known him from early childhood to be generous, honest and true, free from the errors of boyhood which characterizes youth, and with a modesty much admired, he was always known to respect the many social laws by which we always prove the highest type of manhood. Of him there was never said one word that might cause a blush to mantle a father's cheek or give a mother pain, and the record of his faultless youth (brought to such an untimely close) will linger long in the hearts of all who knew him well. Dutiful son, affectionate brother and generous friend, farewell. May the angels of love surround you while the light of your spirit is shed o'er the checkered pathway of life which your loved ones must travel e'er they greet you once more in the light of God's eternal day.

He Ows His Life to the Forethought of a Companion.

While on a camping trip in Webster county, Mr. S. I. Stump, of Normantown, W. Va., had a severe attack of bloody flux. He says, "I firmly believe that one of his faults, the forethought of one of the company who had taken along a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Moral.—Pressure a bottle of this remedy before leaving home. It cannot be obtained when on a hunting, fishing or prospecting trip. Neither can it be obtained while on board the cars or steamship, and at such times and places it is most likely to be needed. The safe way is to have it with you. Thousands of travelers never leave home on a journey without it. For sale by all druggists.

Can You Afford To?

Can you afford to experiment with unknown and untried brands of Fertilizers, when you can get right here what you know to be good? Soils are of great variety, what suits your farm may not be adapted to your neighbor's. Experimenting may mean the loss of a crop, as well as the amount invested in Fertilizers. Every farmer knows Amour and Homestead, Eagle and Ox Brand Fertilizers. They are no experiment. Its Time to Put in Your Order Now if you want it to come forward with shipments for Early Fall seeding.
